Elephant Rocks State Park

Elephant Rocks State Park gets its name from a "train" of enormous pink granite boulders parading along the crest of a hill as if they were in a grand circus! The park's 680 ton pink patriarch named Dumbo, is 27 feet tall, 35 feet long and 17 feet wide. Children of all ages will be enchanted by this whimsical natural formation. Hwy 21 in Graniteville.

Johnson's Shut-ins State Park

Nearly 1.5 billion years ago, violent explosive volcanoes hurled hot gasses, ash and rock into the air creating an area of geological wonder. Johnson's Shut-Ins State Park has long been one of Missouri's most popular state parks. Undergoing some new beginnings, it is expected to be fully open and operational sometime in 2009. Hwy 21 to Hwy N (N hwy is a rode that goes from hwy 21 northwest of Pilot Knob down to hwy 21 sw of Lesterville).

Mark Twain National Forest

Bearing the name of a famed native Missouri author, Mark Twain National Forest spans 29 counties in southern and central Missouri. Within its boundaries are several awe-inspiring conservation and recreation areas. The St. Francois Mountain region is brimming with freshwater springs, rambling rivers and streams, pristine lakes, rocky bluffs, fertile pastures and shady, fragrant hiking trails.

Taum Sauk Mountain State Park

Taum Sauk Mountain State Park contains volcanic uplifts more ancient in origin than the Appalachians. It offers a stunning 1,000 foot path to Missouri's highest point at 1,772 feet. Legend tells of the beautiful Indian maiden, Mina Sauk who hurled herself to her death from the precipice of the crystal falls at the loss of her true love. Crimson blossoms along the water's edge below remain a lasting tribute to the tragic saga. Hwy 21 south to Hwy CC -10.0 miles

The Ozark Trail

Iron and Reynolds counties boast unforgettable mountain vistas, knobs and rolling hills adorned with caves and igneous glades to investigate. Hardwood forests and whispering pines surround secluded valleys; vibrant with brilliant streams, sparkling springs and an unparalleled expanse of flora, fauna and indigenous wildlife. Intent upon allowing the rest of the world to experience the incomparable magnificence found in this cache of glorious natural treasure, the formation of the Ozark Trail was conceived.
